Oregon City is one of Oregon's oldest cities. It is next to the river and has a really terrific elevator to ride on. I'm going to ride on the Oregon City elevator!

The elevator takes you up the side of a cliff! Up at the top is a round room with windows. It is really fun to go up in the elevator and look out the windows.

To get to the elevator you have to cross the street. Be careful crossing. It is a busy street! This guy is crossing on the crosswalk. That is really smart.

This is the entrance. First you have to walk down a tunnel.

There is a little bit of an echo in the tunnel. It is kind of fun to hear your voice in the tunnel. At the end of the tunnel there are elevator doors.

Push the button and wait for the elevator!

When the doors open you can go inside the elevator. There is a nice lady inside who runs the elevator. That is her job. She goes up and down all day long! Sometimes there is a man running the elevator. You can say hello to them.

The elevator is pretty fast. Pretty soon the doors will open and you will be up in the round room! You can see a long way through the windows. This guy is looking at the river. It is fun to be up high! Don't be scared.

You can go outside and walk on a pathway. From up here you can see the river and the bridges. Look how small the cars and buildings look!

When you are done looking around you can go back inside and take the elevator down.

When you come out of the elevator you can walk up the tunnel.

Or you can walk up the stairs.

We sure hope you have a good time riding on the Oregon City elevator! The views are really terrific!
